Their aim was to establish for the first time refreshment houses where the working class could get meals and non-alcoholic drinks at appropriately low prices. Using the St Albans tavern as an example, the talk throws light on changing attitudes to alcohol consumption throughout the country. | temperance movement in St Albans | 50 mins        | £40 - £60 (by negotiation) | included in fee | laptop, memory stick          | projector & screen (laptop for back-up)                    | any   | evenings & occasional daytimes | any  | Talks offered online.
